The Rules of Amateur Status of the United States Golf Association provides that “playing for prize money” is a violation of those Rules.

Those who wish to protect their status as amateur golfers must sign this sheet, which will be forwarded to the USGA no later than the first day of the tournament. The USGA will consider the entrant who does not sign the sheet to have forfeited his amateur status, and in no way or manner may he rescind that understanding with respect to accepting prize money. He also understands that, having signed this disclaimer, the sponsor shall not award to him prize money and he agrees to that as a condition of entry.

Further, any player who has previously forfeited his amateur status, but who wished to be considered for reinstatement is also invited to sign this sheet. His signature would be accepted as evidence that he did not violate the rules by playing in this tournament for money. Players who wish to apply for reinstatement may obtain the necessary information from the SCGA Club Services Department at clubservices@scga.org.
